THE DRAMA-MUSIC.

TWINS AT WALLACK'S. Last night was made more than commonly interesting, at Wallack's Theater, by the production there of a new play, of American origin and character. It is not often that Mr. Wallack deviates from his chosen and established policy—of presenting either old comedies or the new pieces which have first been tested on the London a age. In this instance accordingly be afforded to the public a novel excitement; and, lured by the magnetism of fresh enterprise, the public came forth in unusual force to en-joy it. Wallack's Theater was crowded; and the new play-launched under the best auspices that judgment, taste, and liberality could provide-floated out upon the waters of publicity in presence of an assemblage re-markably fine, alike in numbers and intelligence. It met, we may add, with an attentive and courteous reception. The occasional facts may be summarily stated. "Twins" is comprised in four acts. Each act passes in a set scene. Fourteen persons are introduced-of whom Mr. Wallack personates two. There are five females. The story of the play concerns itself with local scenery and the present time. The piece opens at a country house, in Connecticut, on the shere of the Sound; proceeds in a house in New-York; and ends where it be gan. The first picture is from the hand of Mr. Matt Morgan: the other three are from the hand of Mr. J. Clare. The play is fortunate in its title and in the nomenclature of its characters-for the title is apposite, and the names of the persons are graceful and pleasing.

erformance lasted till 11:25. Mr. Wallack and Mr. E. M. Holland received the compliment of special recalls, amidst a scene. Mr. Wallack, Mr. Holland, and Miss Dyas were called out at the end of the fourth act, after passages effective in elements of farce and The dresses used in extraordinarily rich. The n melodrama. The marine view, by Mr. Morgan, was vociferously applauded, and that artist was called out. There were vehement outcries, long-continued, for Mr. Wheeler, the author, but he did not appear, and Mr. Wallack came on and spoke a few graceful and gracious words in behalf of Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Mackaye, who are joint workers in the piece.

The deeper facts are not to be as directly specified. In plot the play is ambifious, without attaining originality of substance. The germs may be traced to such sources as "Still Waters Run Deep." The double-barreled hero amounts to no more than another John Mildmay, flavored with John Garth.

There is much more in the manner than the matterand the manner is far more literary than dramatic. Until very near the close of the second act there is no movement in this piece-and it goes without saying that the first necessity of a play is movement. Then, too, the plot, though not really obscure, is made to seem intricate by the excessive tangle of talk into which, during the opening scenes, the thread and incidents are braided. These scenes exhibit the embarrassments and sorrows of a family that is dominated by a machinating scamp, and left unprotected by an amiable, weak-minded gentleman—who is husband, father, and guardian. The rest of the piece exhibits the deliverance that is The scheme is obviously adroit. As obviously it disturbs probability. Much is allowable, though, to the artist who invents an ideal and makes it productive of good dramatic effects. The difficulty is that, in this case, the ideal element has not been so used. Half the play is dull picture, which shreds and patches of smart col with vague gibes at culture and society, do not serve successfully to enliven. The piece is well written, but it is not well constructed. Theory may hold that the foreground should be tame, in order that subsequent vivid doings may contrast boldly against it. This is sound. But the fore ground should be limited and compact. When the action did begin, as carried by Lester Wallack, it went with smoothness and ratile. In the use of the farce-effects Mr. Wallack was spirited, even beyond his custom; and he elicited frequent peaks of laughter. He gave a touching bit of acting, too, in depicting the frenzy of the weak husband. The melo-dramatic portion of the piece was found to lack dignity; indeed, to be common, clumsy, and sometimes ridiculous.

Mr. Floyd dealt zealously w th a bad part, and Mr. Her-

Mr. Floyd dealt zealously with a bad part, and Mr. Herbert made several langes at the stomach of Mr. Gilbert, which were well parried by that comedian. Reality, in the shape of a horse and cab, came on in the last act, which seemed made up of odds and ends from "Night and Morning" and other old medo-dramas—the resumblance, though, being probably quite necidental. Theatrical surprises occurred here, and Miss Dyas seemed oppressed with a sudden sense of the absurdity of the moment, and dropped the whole scene flat from its stills. Much condensed, "Twins" may amble on in a satisfactory manner. It is not, however, either a strong or a well-shaped play, and it is only brilliant in portions of the text, in farce situation, in suspense, and in accessories. It had a success of esteem.

LETTER IN ANSWER TO THE INDIANAPOLIS STORY-HE SAYS THERE IS NOT THE REMOTEST FOUNDA-TION FOR THE STATEMENTS.

WASHINGTON, April 12,-The following is a copy of a letter written by Mr. Blaine to a friend in Michigan, a short time since, touching the story made public in The Indianapolis Sentinel and published yes-

House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C., March 22.

My Dear Friend: Yours received. I beg you will not be disturbed by Washington rumors respecting myself.
The story of my ever having received money, or anything else of value, from the Union Pacific Railroad Combey or any of its officers or agents, is not only false, but absurd. There is not the remotest foundation for it, and I can scarcely conceive that any one would be creditious enough to believe it. It has been circulating in Washington for some weeks past in an indefinite, irresponsible and intangible way. Whenever it shall assume form and shape and jubileity it will receive a conclusive answer; meanwhile I trust you will hold a peaceful mind.

I shall never be injured by stories of this kind.

Sincerely yours, J. G. BLAINE.

TELEGRAPH PATENTS.

THE WESTERN UNION BEATEN IN THE QUADRUPLE

SUITS. The Superior Court of this city granted an injunction yesterday restraining the Western Union ompany, George B. Prescott, and others from prosecuting or withdrawing the applications for the prosecuting or withdrawing the applications for the famous duplex and quadruplex patents, and from receiving letters patent for the same pending adjudication of the claim of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company thereto. These patents cover the inventions which have been used for a year past by the Western Union Telegraph Company, and which afford additional facilities for transmission without additional wies. It is alleged that the use thereof by the Western Union Company is unlawful, and that the ownership of the inventions is vested in the Atlantic and Pacific Company.

PROGRESS OF THE GREEN BILL. THE REPUBLICANS DETERMINED TO PRESS IT TO ITS PASSAGE-ITS PROSPECTS IMPROVING-STATE OF THE CASE.

FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE. ter.n of Controller Green made good progress in the Legislature to-day. In the Senate it was passed by almost a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate, and in the House it was reported by Mr. Fish, from the Committee on Citles. There is an evident determination on the part of the friends of the bill to perss it through both Houses as speedily as possible, and it is said that the design of the Republicans is to pass it more than 10 days before the close of the session, so that the Governor will be com-pelled either to sign or veto it, or to allow it to become a law without his signature while the Legislature is still in session. The impression seems to be spreading that the prospect of the passage of the bill is improving. There are said to be a number of Republicans who will not hold to the agreement which is said to have been made between the politicians in New-York. At the same time, it should be said that some friends of the bill in the Senate seem to expect to see it defeated in the Assembly.

When the bill came up for a third reading in the Senate, Senator Starbuck moved that it be recommitted to the Co a mittee on Cities, with instructions to amend by substituting a new section providing that a Controller for the City of New-York be elected at the election in November next, who shall enter upon the duties of his office or the 1st day of January, 1877, and shall hold his office fo the period of three years and until his successor shall duly qualify. The vote on this was as follows:

duly qualify. The vote on this was as follows:
YEAS—Senators Bradley, Coleman, Gerard, Hammond,
Harris, Jacobs, Lamont, St. John, and Starbuck—9.
NAYS—Senators Baaden, Bixby, Booth, Carpenter, Cole, Dochittle, Emerson, McCarthy, Moore, Morrissey, Prince, Robertson, Rogers, Sayre, Selkreg, Tobey, Vedder, Wagner, and Woodin—18—both anti-Tammany Senators voting with the Republicans, and Senators Harris and Coleman with the Democrats.

Those absent or not voting were Messrs. Kennaday, Leomis, Schoonmaker, and Wellman, three Democrats and one Republican. No further opposition was then made to the passage of the bill, which was read a third time and passed by a vote of 21 to 7. Senator Harris still persevered in his opposition to the bill, while Senators Tobey and Booth, who were outspoken in their opposition to the bill when it was in committee, voted for it without a word of dissent. Senator St. John, Demoerat, voted for the bill, and so did Senator Coleman, Republican, who had favored Senator Starbuck's amendment, also voted for it. After the passage of the bill, Senator Morrissey asked unan mous consent to introduce a bill, and offered one making the office of Controller elective, doing so, he says, because he thought the office of Controller ought to be elective, but voted for the Booth bill, so that there should be no misunderstanding in New-York as to the fact that Mayor Wickham was not to have the appointment of Controller Green's successor. The bill was referred to the Committee on Cities. The text of it is as follows:

the Committee on Cities. The text of it is as follows:
SECTION 1. At the general election to be held in the City of New-York in November next, and every three years thereafter at the general election, there shall be elected a Controller, who shall take office on the first day of January next succeeding his election, and shall possess all the powers and perform all the duties of the present Controller of the City and County of New-York.
The term of office of the Controller now in office shall cease on the first day of January, 1877. The Controller shall be voted for upon the same ballot with the Mayor.

There is no probability of a speedy report on Senator

HISTORY OF THE ALBANY BASIN SUIT-A MOTION GRANTED RESPECTING THE VACATING OF A JUDGMENT.

INY TRUEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.1 Albany, April 12.- A motion of considerable importance was made to-day in the suit being tried of The People against Stephens, Lord, Denison, Gale, and others, commonly known as "the Albany Basin suit," which involves the history of previous litigation with respect to this same contract, and disclosed an instance of very sharp practice on the part of the defendants in this suit. It seems that an action was brought by Attorney-General Champlain, under direction of the Legislature of ISGS, to set aside this contract, which was among those sold at the Stanwix Hall suction, on sub-stantially the same grounds as those raised in the present suit, and asking for damages because some payments had been already made.

The only defendants in this suit were Stephens and Gale. Their counsel demurred, and Judge Miller, then on the Supreme bench, sustained the demurrer. Judge Church, then of counsel for the defendants, and Attor-The first appearance of Mile. de Belocca, next | ney-General Chamberlain, came to an agreement whereby the State was not to pay the costs, and there were to be no further proceedings. Attorney-General Barlow, in 1872, entered an order, in pursuance of this oral decision by Judge Milier sustaining the demurrer, and appealed from that order to the General Term. At the General Term he was met by the affidavits of Messra. Chambe ain and Church and one of the defendants-Gale-that the agreement just stated had been made. The General Term dismissed the appeal, on the ground that this agree-

Gen. Barlow appealed from that decision to the Court of Appeals, and the appeal was dismissed on the ground that this agreement forbade any further proceedings in that action whatever. Mr. Barlow entered a judgment upon this, and then canceled it. He then brought, in 1873, the present action for damages. On the 4th of the present month, Mr. Hescock of the counsel for the defendants moved that they be allowed to amend their answer by inserting a judgment in the former action of the people against Stephens and Gale, and the motion was granted. An examination by the Attorney-General's assistants, some days after, showed that judgment had not been entered until the 5th day of the present monththe day after the motion was made—and had been en-tered in spite of the decision of the Court of Appeals that the agreement in that case forbade all further proceed-

Motion was made before Judge Westbrook to-day by Deputy Attorney-General Paige for an order to show cause why that judgment should not be vacated. This was granted and made returnable on Friday. Affidavits have been made to the facts by Attorney-General Fairchild, Deputy Attorney-General Paige, and Judge Matthew Hale, on which all the details of this device of theidefendants' lawyers are given.

AN INSURANCE INVESTIGATION.

THE ABUSES OF AMALGAMATION TO BE LOOKED INTO. [FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] ALBANY, April 12 .- Senator Bixby introduced a resolution this morning providing for an investigation into the amalgamation of life insurances, accompanying it by a petition reciting alleged facts in the history of the National Life Insurance Company, and signed by Stephen English and others, whose names are embodied in the resolution. On motion of Senator Jacobs, it was referred to the Insurance Committee. The resolution is as

ALBANY NOTES.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 12, 1876. The Governor returned the General Appropriation bill to the Assembly this morning in accordance with its request, which was made it is understood in order to strike out the clause providing for the levy of a tax on the City of New-York to support the Court of Arbitration, and that extending the term of the Commissioners to re and that extending the term of the Commissioners to re-vise the Statutes. Both are believed to be unconstitu-tional, and the Governor suggested the recall of the bill in order to strike out the first of these clauses. The ex-penses of the Court can be met until Oct. 1, by the ap-propriation made in the dedicincy bill, and after that time, it is thought, that they can be met in some way until the opening of the next session. The bill requiring cases against the city to go before this Court, which is now before the Assembly, is likely to be amended so as to allow the local author fies discretion in the matter.

The bill relative to the estate of the late James I Taylor, as reported by the Judiciary Committee, provides that, after Oct. 1 next, upon the petition of any judgment creditor of the estate of James B. Taylor, late of the City of New-York, whose Judgment shall have been re-covered since the decease of said Taylor, shall have City of New-York, whose judgment shall have been re-covered since the dreease of said Taylor, shall have power to appoint some suitable person as receiver of the real estate left by Taylor pending the contest upon his last will and testament. Any order or decree made by the Surrogate under the provisions of this act may be reviewed on appeal to the Supreme Court within 30 days after such order or decree shall have been made, and such court may thereupon affirm, revise, or modify the same.

John E. Develin appeared before the Joint Committee on the Emigration Commission matter this afternoon, asking an appropriation of +220,000 for the Commission in order to provide not only for panper emigrants who have arrived during the last five years, but for those who may come hereafter.

Senators Robertson, Booth, and Starbuck, and Assemo'Hare have been appointed a joint committee to inquire into what is necessary for the protection and care of emigrants arriving at the port of New-York, and provide means therefor.

Mr. Fish's bill requiring the final issue in all suits against New-York City to be tried before a jury, and otherwise protecting the interests of the city, was passed by the Assembly to-day.

MR. PARK IN NEED OF A FRIEND.

HE SOUGHT GEN. SCHENCK, NOT BECAUSE HE WAS AMERICAN MINISTER, BUT AS HE WANTED SOME ONE TO TRUST-ROSSITER W. RAYMOND BEFORE THE COMMITTEE. (BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

Washington, April 12.—Rossiter W. Rayond, United States Commissioner of Mining Statistics, was called before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs to-day to testify as to the condition of the Emma Mine in August, 1871, when he pronounced it the best and principal mine on that silver lode. He thought it a mistake to put it on the market at $5,000,000. He considered it then worth $2,500,000, though it might develop to the value of $5,000,000.

An extract from Prof. Raymond's seventh annual report, published by Congress last year, was put in evidence. In it he speaks of the "fault" or break encountered in the Emma and several neighboring mines, and condemns the lack of thorough explorations during the previous three years. The Professor also quotes the opinion of a person in whose judgment he expresses confidence, to the effect that the ore deposit could again be found by sinking lower and piercing the fault.

Trenor W. Park was then recalled and cross-examined by Mr. Hewitt. He testified that his acquaintance with Gen. Schenek did not begin until after the beginning of his negotiations with Coates for the sale of the mine. It was not true that Baron Grant was induced to take part in the undertaking by information that Gen. Schenck would become a director. His conversation with Grant concerning Gen. Schenek and the directership was very brief, not over three minutes in duration. He asked Grant whether Gen. Schenck would be acceptable as a director to fill an anticipated vacancy in the Board, the Company having already been organized, and Grant replied "Yes, the General would add strength to the Board." In answer to interrogatories of Mr. Hewitt, Mr. Park sald his motive in interesting Schenck in the Emma Mine was that he might have a friend in whom he could trust and with whom he could advise. It was not because Gen. Schenek was the American Minister, but because apart from this he was an honest and prominent man, having long held Government positions; therefore he knew that Gen. Schenek's name would strengthen the enterprise. He should have acted toward Gen. Schenck as he did, even if Gen. Schenek had not been the American Minister, for Gen. Schenek had not been the American Minister, for the reason he had already stated. When Gen. Schenek was spoken to about becoming a director he nesitated, on the ground that it might be improper for him, being American Minister, to act in that capacity. The witness replied to Gen. Schenek that he could see no impropriety

The Office of Tenebræ was chanted yesterday afternoon and evening at the Catholic churches, were filled with worshipers. At St. Stephen's Church, in Twenty-eighth-st., the services began at 4 From the altars all ornaments were removed, while the crucifix on the high altar, the mission cross which hangs on one of the pillars in the sanctuary, and the large paintings which are the background of the three altars were covered with purple cloth. and Lauds were chanted by several clergymen and boys, divided into two choirs. The lamentations were sung by the Rev. Dr. McGlynn and Fathers McCready and McCanley. These are the lamentations of Jereniah, which describe the state of Jerusalem when the people were led capited into Babylon. They are sung to a very mournful chant, and the stanzas are divided by letters of the Hebrew alphabet. The candles in the triangular candlestick, which are of yellow wax, as used in the Office of he Dead, were extinguished at the end of the Matins and Lauds, and these on the marble altar at the conclusion of the last six verses of the Benedictus.

At the Paulist Church, in Fifty-minth-st., the services began at 6 o'clock, and the whole office was chanted. The windows had green curtains so as to darken the church. The lamentations were sung by Father Stone, assisted by Fathers Elliott and Young. At the conclusion of the Benedictus, when all the candles had been extinguished, the highs were lowered and the church was almost in complete darkness, the only light visible being the one remaining candle at the apex of the triangle, which was slowly carried away and hidden behind the lugic altar. The Miserere was then intoned, and a loud noise was made, after which the lighted candle was returned to its former place.

THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER OPEN. QUEBEC, April 12 .- The first pilot schooner of the season went down the St. Lawrence River to-day. The river has been clear of ice for several days, and navi-gation seaward is quite open.

During a recent revival excitement in the oniskirts of this country, a request was made for all who desired the prayers of the church to rise. A shaggy old miner, burning with a desire to do his part, arose, and putting his hand down into his buckskin, meekly inquired, "How much will it be, boss 1"—[Cañon City (Col.) THE STEWART FUNERAL.

COMPLETION OF THE ARRANGEMENTS. ERVICES AT THE HOUSE BEFORE GOING TO THE CHURCH - ADMISSION TO BOTH PLACES BY TICKET-VIEWING THE BODY-THE PROCESSION

The arrangements for the funeral services of Mr. Stewart have been changed in some respects from the plan which was propared on Tuesday. As definitely concluded last evening, the following order of exercises will be observed to-day: From 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock this morning the body will lie in state in the main entrance hall of the mansion at Fifth-ave. and Thirty fourth-st., where an opportunity of viewing the remains will be afforded to those who have been in Mr. Stewart's employment, and to others having tickets. At 9 o'clock the persons employed in the wholesale and retail stores will form in line on Thirty-fourth-st., opposite the house. At 10 o'clock a short and simple service will be con ducted at the house by Bishop Potter, the Rev. Dr. Ry lance, rector of .St. Mark's, and the Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, jr. Tickets are required for admission to the house as well as to the church, and the same ticket will not admit to both services.

At 1012 o'clock the procession will start from the house for St. Mark's Church at Second-ave. and Stuyvesant-st., where the main service will be conducted by the same clergymen who take part in the rites at the house. Fifty carriages have been engaged to carry friends to the church, and the procession will be formed as follows: In the first carriage will ride the clergymen, Bishop Potter, the Rev. Dr. Rylance, and the Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng. jr. The next carriage will convey the pail-bearers, and to the list as given in yesterday's TRIBUNE Gov. Tilden and Gov. Rice of Massachusetts have been added. The pall-bearers' carriage will be followed by the hearse, and after the hearse will come carriages conveying the civi officers in attendance. These will be followed by the carriages of the family and nearest relatives, and friends

President Grant will not be able to attend the funeral on account of the pressure of public business. He has sent a dispatch to Judge Hilton conveying his regrets that he cannot do so and his condolence.

Mrs. Stewart was reported to be seriously ill yesterday morning, but she gained strength during the day, and it was thought last evening that she would be able to attend the funeral services. St. Mark's Church, in which Mr. Stewart has worshiped for many years, is capable of seating comfortably only about 800 persons, and not over 400 more can be accommodated by the introduction of extra scats, so that Judge Hilton, who has had entire charge of the funeral arrangements, has been obliged to issue a limited number of tickets, and thus to disappoint many whom he would have gladly admitted. The prin-cipal dry goods merchants of the city, Mr. Stewart's warmest personal friends and chief employés have re ceived tickets.

At the church the full Protestant Episcopal funeral service will be used. The musical services will be under the direction of William E. Beames, the organist of St. Mark's, and will be performed by the choir of the church—Madame Dowland, Miss Jennie Dickreson, Arthur T. Hills, and Otto Lehman—assisted by Miss Beebe, Miss Finch, Mr. Nilsen, and Mr. Aiken of the English Glee Club, forming a double quartet of well trained voices for the effective rendering of the beautiful church service. Following is the musical programme:

Chant—"Lord, let me know my end."—Double quartet.
Solo—"I know that my Redeemer liveth."—Miss Beebe.
Quartet—"God is a Spirit."—Miss Beebe, Miss Finch,
Mr. Nilsen, and Mr. Aiken.
Soprano solo, and quartet—"I heard a voice from heaven."—Madame Dowland, Miss Dickerson, Dr. Hills, Mr. Lehman.
Chant, quartet of male voices. "Chant, quartet of Chant, quartet of male voices—"Our days on earth are as a shadow."—Mr. Nilsen, Dr. Hills, Mr. Lehman, Mr. Aiken.

Hymn 139, Prayer Book-"Rock of Ages" (old tune).-

The galleries of the church have been reserved for persons who have been in Mr. Stewart's employment, and 20 of their number will stand at the entrances to the church until the audience has been seated. Special squads of policemen have been detailed to preserve order around both the house and the church. There will be no drapery in the church, but the chancel has been most elaborately decorated with the choicest flowers, and the casket will be adorned with the exquisite floral offerings of friends. The employes of both stores have united in presenting an immense floral cross surmounted by a rown of flowers, the whole being 919 feet in hight. In addition to an immense number of cut flowers, a firm of florists has filled the following order from Judge Hilton: A large cross, six feet high; two large harps, each five feet high; a column, five feet high; two large pillows of flowers, besides several anchors, wreaths, and crowns.

At the conclusion of the church service the easket will be placed in the family vault, No. 112, near the center of the churchyard, at the Second ave. side. The vault now contains the remains of the mother of Mr. Stewart, his two children, who died young, and Miss Clinch, a niece of Mrs. Stewart.

George W. Hamill, sexton of St. Mark's, who has long been familiar with Mr. Stewart's face, remarked yester, day that the expression of his countenance was still very natural and pleasant. As an indication of the great interest felt in the funeral services of Mr. Stewart, Mr. Hamili stated yesterday that between 500 and 600 applications had been made to him for tickets, although it had been generally published that Judge Hilton had control of their distribu-

TRIBUTES TO MR. STEWART'S MEMORY.

A meeting of prominent dry goods merhants was held in the rooms of the Merchants' Club, at No. 108 Leenard-st., yesterday afternoon, to take action in regard to Mr. Stewart's death. Mr. Pomeroy called the meeting to order, and H. B. Claffin was chosen Chairman. Thomas Barbour made some remarks in regard to Mr. Stewart, and a large committee was appointed to represent the trade at the funeral. The members of the committee will meet at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at 912 o'clock this morning, and receive their tickets from Mr. Strong. They will then go to the house, and be present at the services in the house and the church. Folwing are the names of the members of the committee

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the So clety for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals yesterday Mr. Bergh said, in referring to the death of Mr. Stewart "In alluding to the death of one of the best friends and carnest cooperators of your Society, I would mention that Mr. Stewart was one of the founders of your Society On the occasion of the meeting for organization, held in Clinton Hall April 21, 1866, Mr. Stewart was present, although it was a very inclement night, and he carnestly advocated the cause, and his name stands on the roll of incorporators. It is not my purpose to make any culogy on his business fame and good deeds, which are well known to you, but it is my duty officially to call your attention to the death." A committee of three was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions.

A resolution was adopted at the meeting of the Fire Commissioners yesterday that the national flag be displayed at half-mast upon all the houses of the department upon the day of the funeral. Mr. Stewart had been a frequent contributor to the Relief Fund of the Fire Department.

INCIDENTS RELATIVE TO MR. STEWART. An incident in the life of Mr. Stewart showing his readiness to do a kind act is related by S. J. Ahern. Several years ago Buchanan Read brought a lad to this country from Italy, and Mr. Read dying soon after, the boy was left without resources in a strange after, the boy was left without resources in a strange land. After he had made some unsuccessful efforts to obtain employment, Mr. Ahern sent him to Mr. Stewart with a note. Mr. Ahern adds: "In the note I confessed that I was personally unknown to him, but that I took advantage of the fact that for nearly 20 years I had an open account at his store. I told the boy's story, remarking that he but followed in Mr. Stewart's wake and mina in sacking fortune in the Western art's wake and mine in seeking fortune in the Western world. He was kind enough to grant the lad immediate audience, and to hire him on the spot at a liberal salary. I was so pleased with my success that I said, somewhat playfully, that if I survived him I would use the little in-cident in a chaplet for his tomb. The great millionaire the language of its advertisements. playfully, that if I survived him I would use the little in-merchant, you perceive, could spare the time to hire a boy, when his doing so was a tender act of mercy.' Mr. Brett, a dealer in pictures, states that the portrait of Mr. Stewart by Thomas P. Rossiter, which it was stated had been destroyed by Mr. Stewart, is still in existence, and probably hangs in Mrs. Stewart's bedroom. It is a very fine portrait, for which Mr. Stewart's bedroom. It is a very fine portrait, for which Mr. Stewart sat some years ago. Three years ago it was purchased at a sale by Mr. Brett and only a few months ago sold to Mr. Stewart. It is claimed by Mr. Brett that it is one of Rossiter's finest portraits and not an indifferent work, as has been asserted. It is stated on the best authority that the whole subject of taking a portrait and bust of Mr. Stewart has been placed in the hands of Albert Bierstadt, who has employed J. Decomps, mold-maker, who is the only person who has access to the body for such purposes. FROM THE HOUSE-CEREMONIES AT ST. MARK'S.

THE PEACE OF EUROPE. RUSSIA GLAIMS TO BE THE ARBITER.

Sr. Petersburg, Wednesday, April 12, 1876. The Golos states that every foreign intervention in Turkey will meet with Russia's energetic opposition, if directed against the Sclaves and their righte quests. The interest of Russia requires above all things the naintenance of peace; but Russia nevertheless cannot abandon the protectorship of the Turkish Christians for the sake of any alliance, however elevated, or any friendship, however intimate. The initiative hitherto left to Austria is now left to Russia. The latter will reach the aim sooner than the former.

TURKISH COMPLICATIONS.

LONDON, Thursday, April 13, 1876. The Daily News's special dispatch from Vienna reports that the Bosnian insurgents have organized three columns of 2,500 men each, which are moving in the direction of Banjaluka. The Roumain Catholies, who have hitherto abstained from action, are now joining the insurgents.

A special dispatch from Odessa to The London Times announces that the Sclavic and Austrian bands which entered Bosnia from Dalmatia are in possession of all Turkish Croatia. The Porte is arming the Mohammedans and sending out large reënforcements. There is great irritation in Constantinople against Austria. The Porte suspects the Austrian authorities of conniving at the movement in Bosnia.

LONDON, Thursday, April 13, 1976. The special dispatch of The Times from Berlin reports that the excited populace of Belgrade treated Prince Wrede, the Austrian representative, to a Charicari, or burlesque serenade, on Sunday evening.

Advices from Bucharest announce the resignation of the Roumanian Ministry on account of the result of the elections.

The Paris dispatch to The Daily News says it is re ported there that the Danubian Principalities are likely to join the insurrection.
